

Assumption Cross Country Media Guide, 2020-2021

Program Philosophy

Although several themes run through this program, our central goal is in helping every girl on the team achieve both athletic and personal greatness on the highest possible level, in an environment that's both supportive and fun.

We are a team first, not a collection of individuals. We stress responsible behavior, the need to consider our own desires in the context of what's best for the team, and emphasize the importance of pursuing high goals. We expect a high level of commitment from our girls, and ask that they take their membership on this team very seriously.

We believe very strongly in the importance of being a well-rounded individual, but we recognize that athletics has much to contribute in the development of our girls from teenagers to young women. As a team, we specifically encourage and prepare our Varsity girls for intercollegiate athletics. We strive as a program to provide a training structure, racing structure and team culture that facilitates the transition of our girls from high school to intercollegiate athletics.

Although we exist as an athletic team with aspirations of national level success, we are also a team that believes in the importance of every individual on our team, and in promoting our sport as both a healthy lifestyle choice and general metaphor for life.

Team Traditions

Wacky Wednesday: Seniors determine a weekly theme, and the girls in each group wear something at practice which is related to that theme.

Spaghetti Dinners: the team hosts Friday night team spaghetti dinners before several of our big invitational or post-season meets.

Chapel Meetings: team meeting at the beginning and end of each season where the seniors and coaches speak to the team

Senior Rose Ceremony: following our final regular season weekday meet, where we acknowledge and award roses to the seniors on each team attending our final meet.

Jean Luc, the Spirit Stick: a spirit stick created by the team which we bring to meets, and which is handed down at the team banquet to a junior team member

Mary Margaret Wayne Determination Award: an annual award named in honor of a former Assumption Cross Country athlete, and given to a senior Cross Country girl who has made a difference in the lives of her teammates

Sara Davis Leadership Award: an annual award named in honor of a former Assumption Cross Country athlete, and given to a senior Cross Country girl who has matured over the years into a great team leader

Academics and Cross Country. We take pride in having many girls who not only perform well in their sport, but perform well in the classroom. Our team often has National Merit Scholars and National Merit Commended Scholars, often within our top competitive group. We have had finalists for the Wendy's Heisman Award and we'll have several girls typically participate in the Governor's Scholars Program each summer. At the end of each season, we often have one of the longest lists of Academic All-State athletes in the State.

Cross Country athletes are amongst the highest ranked students within their respective grades. On a team of between 80 and 120 girls, our annual average team GPA is typically between 3.7 and 3.8, with as many as 20-25% of our girls carrying a cumulative GPA of 4.0. Cross Country girls have graduated from Assumption and enrolled at schools like Centre College, Notre Dame, Yale, and Brown, and have received prestigious academic awards like the UofL GEMS (Guaranteed Entrance to Medical School) scholarship. Since 2005, we have also had 12-13 former runners start Medical School, with several more alums on that path as well.

The Assumption Cross Country Training Group System

Assumption Cross Country girls train together during the Summer and then, prior to the start of school, are assigned to one of our two training groups, Group A or Group B. Group A is a more competitive Varsity/JV group and Group B is more of a JV level only group. This assignment determines attendance and how the girls will participate during the season.

Cross Country is a no-cut sport, but the coaching staff determines whether girls will be assigned to Group A or Group B. Group A assignments are based first on each girl's interest in Group A, then on her ability or potential, and whether she is capable of meeting Group A's attendance requirements. Girls not assigned to Group A are assigned to Group B.

1. Group A

Group A practices 6 days a week, Monday through Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Group A girls are not necessarily all Varsity level runners, but Group A is a Varsity level commitment. Group A girls are expected to regularly attend practice and minimize conflicts with practice and meets. Although mixing academics with any extracurricular activity is never easy, our Group A girls rarely, if ever struggle with balancing school and their Group A commitment.

Group A girls typically compete in weekend invitational meets, but may also compete in weekday meets as well. All Group A girls participate in our Palatine Invitational trip, are eligible for inclusion in our remaining invitational meet trips, and are also eligible to earn a Varsity letter by running a specific time (or better) on one of the courses where we compete. Group A girls who do not earn a letter can still earn a JV certificate.

a. Elite group

When the regular Cross Country season ends in mid-October, Group A girls have the option of continued participation as part of our Elite group. Participation is voluntary and continues through the Thanksgiving week, with the option for some girls of continuing through mid-December. Elite group girls can choose between training only, and training + racing.

Elite group girls are expected to be good students and should maintain a 3.0 cumulative GPA. Elite group girls are also expected to be excellent role models at school, within our team, and at home. In late November, Elite group girls are allowed to purchase an Elite group spiritwear item that corresponds with the number of years they've participated in our Elite group.

Most Elite group girls choose to race in the Nike Cross Country Regional Championship in Cary, North Carolina, on the Saturday after Thanksgiving. This event is the qualifying meet for the Nike Cross Country National Championships. This group of girls is also provided with opportunities to compete in various indoor meets in December, where they may hopefully qualify for indoor meets in February and March like the UK Invitational and New Balance Indoor Nationals at the Armory in New York.

2. Group B

Group B practices 4 days per week, Monday through Thursday, at 6:00pm. This is what we consider to be a JV level commitment. The team views Group B as a low key training group for girls who would like to run Cross Country without the stronger time commitment of the Group A girls. Group B is also viewed as a group for developing eventual Group A runners.

Group B girls will race in a series of less competitive weekday meets that our team hosts each year. Group B girls are always welcome to attend weekend practices with Group A, but without fully committing to joining Group A as well. All girls in Group B, including seniors, will earn a JV certificate at the end of the season – provided they satisfy the requirements of the group (i.e. no attendance issues and participation in 3 meets).

a. Elite Group B

As the season ends, Group B girls are given the option of continued training through Thanksgiving week as part of Elite Group B. This group is patterned after our Elite Group for Group A girls, but with a training-only option (i.e. Elite Group B girls will not race after their season ends). Just as with our Elite group, Elite Group B girls may purchase an Elite group spiritwear item that corresponds with the number of years they've participated in the Elite group.

Group A vs Group B

The distinction between Group A and Group B is not always clear, and this leads to a number of misperceptions about the two groups. E.g., many girls wrongly assume that Group A is for better runners, while Group B is for slower runners. Some girls may also assume that they will struggle with a Group A commitment if they are taking advanced classes. Although there are always exceptions to every rule, these beliefs are very often incorrect.

There are, however, distinct differences between the two groups and we provide the following reasons our girls have expressed the reasons for their interest in each group.

Group A

- Earn a Varsity letter
- Participate in an out-of-town trip
- Want to run in college
- Become a better runner
- Prefer greater involvement
- Friends in Group A

Group B

- Job conflicts w/ Group A practices
- Activity conflicts w/ Group A practices
- Strongly prefer low key competition
- Not interested in practicing 6 days/week
- Using freshman year as a transition year
- Friends in Group B

Earning a Varsity Letter vs JV Certificate:

Each girl on the team will earn a Varsity letter or JV certificate by meeting the criteria provided below. Awards will depend upon the regularity of a girl's attendance, the specific training group she belongs to at the end of the season, whether she competes in a minimum number of meets, etc.

Junior Varsity Certificate (must achieve i and ii):

- i. regular attendance
- ii. compete in no less than 3 races

Varsity letter (must achieve i, ii, iii and iv):

- i. regular attendance
- ii. membership in Group A
- iii. compete in no less than 4 races
- iv. hit a Varsity time standard on one of the following courses:

In-State Courses	Varsity time
